Review Proposed License and Encroachment Agreement for Scotts Mills Park

- The surveyors surveyed the property line between the residence and the park:
 - It was discovered that the house was not built with a setback of the park; and
 - Legal Counsel has been looking into options to provide to the property owners to help give some reasonable access to the back of their property.
- The property owners have complained about people coming up on their deck or coming up on their yard;
- This park is encumbered by Land and Conservation dollars, so the county cannot convey any real property rights to the property owner without going through a very lengthy federal process;
- May be able to issue a license and encroachment agreement:
 - Would allow the property owners to occupy a section of the property;
 - Would give them a 12-foot section;
 - Could install landscaping and non-permit features; and
 - If they ever sold their property, the agreement would expire.
- The property owner has pushed landscaping into the park:

 - A six month extension is approved when needed.

- Mr. Trudeau was upset that his permits had expired:
 - He believed that they were still valid and sued the county;
 - Circuit court sided with the county;
- Mr. Trudeau submitted another permit for a driveway permit:
 - Public Works deemed that the application was not complete and attempted to contact Mr. Trudeau for more information, which he has not given.
- As of today, he has no land use approvals to do anything to his property;
- Public Works would like to have the applicant build their driveway access on Oak Street, instead of Butteville Road due to traffic safety issues;
